OBITUARY.

Be still prepared for death and death or life shall thereby be the sweeter.—Shakespeare.

Mrs. Dennis McNeerney, living three-quarters of a mile west of Old Brockway, died on Sunday, March 1, at 11:30 a. m. Her death was caused by grippe together with old age, as she was 65 years old. Funeral services were held from St. Joseph's church, Old Brockway, on Wednesday at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Fr. Cullinane of Yale. Interment was made in Kenosha cemetery.

Johanna Sullivan was born in the county of Kerry, Ireland, in 1840. At an early age she moved to America with her parents and settled in this county, where she has lived for over fifty years. She was married to Dennis McNeerney and to this union eight children were born, five of whom together with the husband are living, as follows: Mrs. John Reedy and Mrs. John Sheehy of Brockway township; Mrs. John Foley and James McNeerney of Detroit; and Dennis Jr. at home.

Mrs. McNeerney was a sister of Mrs. Wm. Powers and Daniel Sullivan of Emmett.

Abraham Young, an old resident of near Fargo, died at his home Monday afternoon, at the age of 69 years. Deceased had been in poor health all winter but his death was not looked for, as he was around as usual on Sunday. Funeral services were conducted Thursday morning and interment was made in the Fargo cemetery.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION MEETS.

The Ministerial Association of Yale met on Monday last, March 2, at 10 a. m. with Pastor Ostrander. Pastor Lawerson delivered an address on "The American City." The subject was well handled and proved to be an interesting and practical theme for discussion.

The American City as described by the speaker is a growing center of industrial and social life, presenting many problems that must be dealt with in the near future—problems of vital importance. The city is becoming more and more the center of attraction and as such is exerting an increasing influence upon all classes of society, the rural population included. The evils that exist and the dangers that threaten in congested districts must be largely eliminated by the gospel of a helping hand. The churches instead of moving out of these districts to locate in a purer atmosphere with the thought of self preservation, must become instruments of practical usefulness to the people among whom they are located. There must be an exercise of love and self-denial on the part of the churches, commensurate with the needs of human life as found in the local field.

It was clearly shown that the problems of city life are problems that should engage the thoughtful attention of the general public. The address was followed by a discussion in which the local ministers took an active part. Presiding Elder Harger of the M. P. church was present and his thoughtful and helpful remarks gave an added interest to the occasion. Pastor E. B. Call of the Free Methodist church will address the next meeting to be held the first Monday in April at the F. M. parsonage.

Have One Doctor

No sense in running from one doctor to another. Select the best one, then stand by him. Do not delay, but consult him in time when you are sick. Ask his opinion of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and colds. Then use it or not, just as he says.

We publish our formulae
We banish ailments from our medicines
We urge you to consult your doctor

Always keep a box of Ayer's Pills in the house. Just one pill at bedtime, now and then, will ward off many an attack of biliousness, indigestion, sick headache. How many years has your doctor known these pills? Ask him all about them.

YALE INDUSTRIES.

The Expressor during the twenty-five years of existence in this community has always upheld the town and its people in every commendable deed and act, publishing to the world at large what an ideal place Yale is for business or a home. The publisher has been untiring in his work to build up and strengthen every business enterprise, and if we do so ourselves, we have met with a goodly amount of success and encouragement in our efforts.

It has been our pleasure and satisfaction to see Yale grow from a small hamlet of less than 400 inhabitants to an incorporated city of the fourth class, having every modern improvement for the comfort of those residing within its limits. Along with the above we have witnessed several manufacturing industries come here and prosper, employing many hands and paying out large sums of money for the raw material and in the manufacture of the same. These industries have benefited not only our own people within the confines of our city, but also have been a great help to the farmers in the purchase of their products.

It is our purpose in this article to say a word or two about each industry and its output, etc., during the past year.

The canning factory, one of the younger institutions, we will take up first as an annual meeting was held on Monday evening last, at which time the following report was handed out: During the running season last summer $8,500 was paid to the hired help, and to the farmers went $3,357 for apples; $456.56 for corn; and $7,230 for peas; making a total of $15,222.56, which the farmers earned. From the corn, peas and apples were canned 794,718 cans, which were shipped to eastern markets where a high price was obtained; owing to the excellent quality of the goods.

At this meeting these were elected directors: E. F. Fead, R. H. Menery, W. G. Wight, John Holden, L. Roy Fuller, T. D. Nichols, J. A. Rapley.

Situated on the banks of Mill Creek, running six days in the week and fifty-two weeks each year, is one of Yale's busiest industries—the Creamery. Under the efficient management of James Wallace, ably assisted by Oscar Denison, the creamery has been put into the best shape it ever was. New machinery and modern appliances have been added and everything so arranged that our creamery is second to none in the state.

Notwithstanding the bad weather we have had the past winter, the amount of cream gathered in the past season is the largest ever. Five carriers at present and seven during the summer gather cream from 475 customers. The average per day just now is 1,750 pounds, while in the summer 6,500 lbs. are collected, for which during the past year the farmers have been paid the large sum of $61,532.91. Does it pay to patronize home industries rather than outside trusts? Just read this sum again.

Mr. Wallace, Mr. Denison and a helper turn this cream into butter, sending out 30 tubs a week, but later on the weekly output will be increased to 210 tubs. And this butter is of the best quality, as a ranking of 92½ per cent at the West Michigan State Fair attests. Last year at the State Dairy-men's Convention, Yale butter was awarded second place, Alma alone surpassing us.

At the last election J. A. Rapley was chosen president and James Wallace secretary and treasurer. Mr. Wallace is also general manager and devotes his entire time to furthering the best interests of the creamery.

Next week we will give a resume of the business transacted during the past year by the Yale Woolen Mills, the Wilmington Flax Co., and the Yale Milling Co.

ST. PATRICK'S BANQUET.

Again the time has rolled around when preparations are being made for that famous event of the year, St. Patrick's Banquet. This year it will be held on Wednesday evening, March 18, in Central Hall. The preparations this time point to the most successful banquet ever held here, not alone in the refreshment line but also in the way of entertainment. Negotiations are being made to bring St. Stephen's orchestra, of Port Huron, here on this evening, and as an intellectual treat Lieut. Gov. Patrick H. Kelley will be present.

It is with regret we are compelled to announce that on account of the size of the hall, only a limited number of tickets will be sold. So secure your tickets early that this treat may not be missed.

Rev. Fr. P. J. Cullinane is hard at work on the literary program, which will soon be announced in our columns.
